

Multiple Reformations?

The Heidelberg-Notre Dame Colloquies on the Legacies of the Reformation

The year 2017 is one marker of the 500th anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation.

The internal complexity of this historical and theological process, along with its relationships to reform movements in Catholicism, raise fascinating questions that are crucial to understanding our world today in all its dimensions.

These colloquia, cosponsored by one of the largest faculties of Catholic theology and one of the largest Protestant faculties in the world, will gather the most recent scholarly advances in our understanding of the Reformation in order to assess its legacies and identify fruitful avenues for continued ecumenical scholarship and dialogue.

I The Many Faces of the Reformation
March 6–10, 2016

University of Notre Dame's Rome Global Gateway

II Multiple Modernities? Confessional Cultures and the Many Legacies of the Reformation

September 22–25, 2016

University of Heidelberg

III Multiple Reformations and the Authority and Interpretation of Scripture

March 12–15, 2017

University of Notre Dame

IV The Legacies of the Reformation: Paths Forward

March 11–14, 2018

Tantur Institute for Ecumenical Studies, Jerusalem